5																	They absorb and emit
6																	exactly the same
7																	indifferent quantity of
8																	light. Suggests the
A																	same proximity and the
B																	absence of inertia. On a
C																	color cycle they
D																	complement each
E																	other, regardless of
F																	their position.
G
H																	Perfect.

Should your glance on mornings lovely
Lift to drink the heaven's blue
Or when sun, veiled by sirocco,
Royal red sinks out of view -
Give to Nature praise and honour.
Blithe of heart and sound of eye,
Knowing for the world of colour
Where its broad foundations lie.

(Johann Wolfgang Goethe)
